

UNDERGRADUATE PROSPECTUS

2020-2021

HKU LAW

The University of Hong Kong Faculty of Law

From a teaching department of three teachers and 40 students in 1969 to a Faculty today with about 2,500 students and over 70 full time academic staff from about 17 jurisdictions, the Faculty of Law has been the training ground of many distinguished legal minds. Generations of lawyers who graduated from the Faculty now form the backbone of the Rule of Law in Hong Kong, which is crucial to the success of the territory.

The founding Bachelor of Laws (LLB) programme, together with the double degrees, are ranked among the top undergraduate curricula in HKU. So is the highly competitive Juris Doctor (JD) programme introduced in 2009. The Master of Laws (LLM) programmes have since 1989 offered specialist, cutting-edge law courses to meet the demands of a rapidly changing global environment. The Master of Common Law (MCL) programme has trained more than 350 mainland Chinese judges and government officials in common law since 1997. In recent years, the Faculty has partnered with some of the most eminent law schools in the world, including double degree programmes with University of British Columbia, University of Pennsylvania, University College London, University of Zurich and Peking University; and research projects and joint conferences with University College London, University of Cambridge, University of New South Wales and National University of Singapore.

The Faculty is committed to academic and professional excellence in meeting the challenges of a rapidly changing environment. While the Faculty has come a long way since its inception in 1969, it continues its efforts in international outreach, in strengthening its ties with Mainland China, and in enhancing the quality of legal education with a view to training not just good lawyers but also leaders who have a passion to serve, wherever they are.

In 2012, the Faculty moved to the Centennial Campus, and has the privilege of a new home named after Dr Cheng Yu Tung. The building befits the importance of our independent legal system, which is the cornerstone of Hong Kong's continued prosperity.

DOUBLE DEGREE
PROGRAMMES
(5 YEARS)

Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Laws

[BA and LLB] (Code: 6078)

This 5-year programme is jointly offered by the Faculty of Law and the Faculty of Arts. Law and literature have intertwined institutional histories: the study of rhetoric was originally designed to develop the oratory skills of lawyers in the courts, and the works of literary authors such as William Shakespeare and Charles Dickens can be interpreted as responses to contemporary legal developments. Moreover, both lawyers and literary critics engage closely with language, and law schools and departments of literature are sites at which questions of rhetoric, interpretation and meaning receive the most intense scrutiny. This programme draws on the complementary strengths of the two Faculties where questions of textual interpretation are paramount. It aims to develop competence in both legal and literary analysis, encourage interdisciplinary thinking, and enrich students' sense of human and social values. It also prepares them for a variety of careers in the law, the humanities, and beyond.

Dual Degree Programmes

Joint Education Programme with UBC

In 2009, The University and the University of British Columbia (UBC) established a joint legal education programme that allows current LLB students to pursue professional qualification study in both Hong Kong and British Columbia, Canada. Under this joint LLB-JD programme, an LLB student will be allowed to complete 2 degrees in two jurisdictions in 5 years. Subject to application, eligible law students may be nominated for admission after having successfully completed the third year of study at HKU.

Pathway Programmes to an LLM with our Strategic Partners

In light of the rapid social, cultural, technological, economic, legal and political changes, which have driven and will continue to drive changes in norms and expectations on what and how university graduates are to contribute to society both locally and globally, the Faculty has provided a wider range of options to our law students with the pathway programmes with our strategic partners around the globe. Subject to applications, LLB students would be able to obtain an LLB with HKU and an LLM with our partner institutions, such as King's College London, University of New South Wales and National University of Singapore, in 4 or 4 ½ academic years under respective agreements.

Dual Degree Programmes in Law

In addition to our 4-year LLB, students may also consider choosing to study the 4-year and 5-year Dual Degree Programmes in Law jointly offered with University College London (UCL) and Peking University (PKU) respectively.

HKU-UCL Dual Degree Programme in Law

The HKU-UCL Dual Degree Programme in Law was jointly launched by The University of Hong Kong (HKU) and University College London (UCL) in September 2016. The Programme enables selected students to study in two of the world's key global financial centres, London and Hong Kong, and to gain insight into the legal systems of two important common law jurisdictions – one as the origin of the common law with expertise in European Union law, and the other in an important hub of legal education in Asia. The students will spend the first two years at UCL and the following two years at HKU.

Students will be required to take a compulsory extra-curricular placement in the UCL Centre for Access to Justice where students will have the opportunity to interact with legal professionals in providing legal assistance to the local community. During the last two years of study at HKU, they may also have an opportunity to study a course in an eminent university in Mainland China by way of intensive teaching, and broaden their horizons by participating in a vocational internship. Upon successful completion of the whole programme, separate Bachelor of Laws (LLB) degrees will be awarded by these two prestigious and highly ranked law schools.

HKU-PKU Dual Degree Programme in Law

The HKU-PKU Dual Degree Programme in Law was jointly launched by The University of Hong Kong (HKU) and Peking University (PKU) in September 2019. The programme integrates the strengths of two leading law schools in Hong Kong and Mainland China, and allows students to develop a robust understanding of two different, associated legal systems. Selected students will spend the first 2 ½ years in HKU to acquire the fundamental legal concepts on common law jurisdictions, followed by another 2 ½ years at PKU which focus on the civil law system in Mainland China. Students will be able to work with legal professionals in Mainland China in their graduation internships and broaden their horizons. Graduates who have completed this programme will obtain two LLBs from both leading law schools, and open their paths to legal qualifications in both jurisdictions.

Students who are interested in the above dual degree programmes can get more information from the Faculty website at <https://www.law.hku.hk>.

With our introduction of the JD programme in September 2009, the Faculty no longer offers admission to the LLB to graduates with a degree in other disciplines. Instead, applicants with a first degree who are interested in pursuing a degree in law should apply to our Juris Doctor (JD) Programme which is an intensive 2-year self-funded programme. The annual intake is 40-50. For further information, please visit the Faculty website at <http://www.law.hku.hk/postgrad/jurisdoctor/>.

In past years, successful Non-Jupas candidates who have applied to the LLB on the strength of the following popular public examinations have achieved outstanding examination results as follows:

GCEA-Level examination

Minimum A*, A*, A

IB Diploma

Minimum of 38 points (excluding bonus points), with a minimum of point 6 in each examined subject.
