“

The support from HKU enabled me to have a rich and multifaceted learning experience in the US while pursuing a Master of Science in Bioethics at Harvard University during my Enrichment Year. Working on group projects with classmates from various nationalities exposed me to diverse cultures and ways of thinking. These experiences have polished my communication skills and are beneficial to my future career in medicine as I tend to patients from different backgrounds. Outside of class, I joined the Harvard table tennis team and represented the university in state-wide competitions. I also had the opportunity to travel to Mexico and Europe with my classmates during the holidays, which had further broadened my horizons.

THE LIMITLESS

POTENTIAL OF INTERDISCIPLINARITY

Interdisciplinary education is a core element of the undergraduate curriculum at HKU. We catalyse innovation by empowering you to draw insights from a diverse range of disciplines, paving the way for a career in cutting-edge fields, and enabling you to make meaningful contributions to society.

FLEXIBLE CURRICULUM STRUCTURE

We understand that your curiosity knows no bounds, which is why our undergraduate curriculum offers the flexibility to pursue your diverse interests. You will have the freedom to design your own combination of disciplinary majors, minors, and electives of different faculties. It is up to you to tailor your learning experience to align with your goals and aspirations!

EXPLORE THE CROSSROADS OF KNOWLEDGE WITH HKU COMMON CORE COURSES

As an integral component of our undergraduate programmes, Common Core facilitates interdisciplinary education and experiential learning through courses offered across our faculties. You will explore a wide range of topics encompassing different disciplines, gaining a holistic and in-depth understanding of the complex connections between global issues that impact our world.

“

The Common Core courses allowed me to explore a multitude of interesting areas and dig deeper into specific issues through research components in coursework. I joined the Common Core Future of Sustainable Business in Asia project for a glimpse into ESG consultancy work. Collaborating with groupmates from international backgrounds, we examined Asia's alignment with global ESG standards, where I focused on the use of natural language processing technology to recognize greenwashing claims in company reports. By preparing a written report and an oral presentation on such alignment efforts and their implications for businesses, I acquired a client-oriented mindset, which is a valuable addition to my skillsets as a law student.

“

I've always had a passion for music but was conflicted as people around me suggested that I pursue a more “secure” academic path. Fortunately, I learned about the interdisciplinary BAsC programme, which encourages students to explore various disciplines and create their own degree based on their interests or what they would like to achieve. This led me to follow my passion and declare music as a second major. The diverse exposure to Arts, Science, and Social Sciences in this programme also made me discover my interest in environmental science and subsequently declaring it as a minor. In-depth learning in both arts and science has helped me develop a creative, innovative mind, complemented by a more analytical and structured side. With this combination, I can pursue my passion and broaden my job opportunities. I plan to find a job in ESG or sustainability while working on my dream of becoming a music composer.
